PROPOSED VOTING ISSUES OF ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING
FOR FINANCIAL YEAR 2024

- Pursuant to Circular 98/2020/TT-BTC dated 16 November 2020 issued by the Ministry of Finance on the operation and management of securities funds;
- Pursuant to the Fund Charter of Techcom Vietnam REIT Fund;

Techcom Capital Joint Stock Company ("TCC") respectfully presents to the AGM the following voting issues at the Meeting as follows:

I. PERFORMANCE RESULTS OF THE FUND IN 2024 AND STRATEGY IN 2025

Vietnam Stock Market in 2024

The year 2024 was full of fluctuations and challenges for the Vietnamese stock market, but it also recorded many positive signals, reflecting the recovery and development of the economy. Despite the impact of an unstable international context, the Vietnamese stock market still showed strong attraction to domestic investors and gradually improved its position on the global financial map.

The market started 2024 with a strong upward trend, thanks to optimism about the economic recovery prospects and government support policies. The VN-Index increased significantly in the first quarter, surpassing the 1,200-point threshold and approaching 1,300 points. Market liquidity improved markedly, with the average trading value reaching 20,000–22,000 billion VND per session, up 18–23% compared to 2023. Domestic individual investors played a key role, while foreign investors remained cautious due to the increasing pressure from global interest rates and a strong US dollar.

From the second quarter, the market began to face numerous challenges, primarily from international factors. High interest rates in the US and a strong US dollar caused foreign capital to withdraw sharply from emerging markets, including Vietnam. Foreign investors recorded a net sell-off of approximately 90 trillion VND in 2024, the highest ever. The pressure on the exchange rate also increased, forcing the State Bank of Vietnam to intervene strongly to stabilize the market.

Despite many difficulties, the market saw a recovery towards the end of the year due to reforms in the institutional and legal system and strong domestic investor inflows. Circular 68/2024, which allows foreign investors to trade without pre-depositing funds, created more favorable conditions for foreign capital. Meanwhile, the amended Securities Law, passed to enhance transparency and establish a central clearing mechanism, brought the market closer to being upgraded by FTSE Russell from a "frontier market" to an "emerging market." At the end of the year, the VN-Index increased by 12.11% to reach 1,266.78 points.

Fund's Investment Activity

The Net Asset Value (NAV) of TCREIT Fund reached approximately 44 billion VND, equivalent to about 8,813 VND per fund certificate. The year-to-date return was around -5.6%.

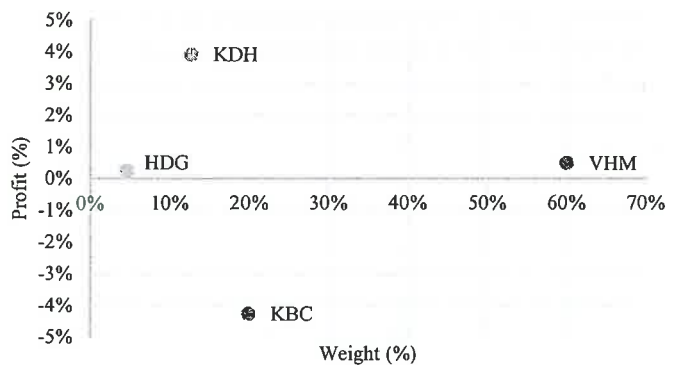

During the period, the Fund focused on investing in stocks of leading companies in the real estate sector, which have large land banks and strong financial health.

Outlook for the Real Estate Sector

2025 – The Pivotal Year of Growth

The Vietnamese stock market in 2025 is expected to continue its strong growth trajectory, supported by the internal factors of the domestic economy and large opportunities from the international market. The main drivers contributing to the market's development this year include:

- Aiming for high economic growth: During the 9th Extraordinary Session of the National Assembly held from February 12 to 19, the Assembly approved a resolution supplementing the socio-economic development plan for 2025 with the target of achieving growth of 8% or higher. This signals the Vietnamese government's determination to lay the foundation for double-digit growth starting from 2026. With the active involvement of the political system, these goals are expected to be realized soon, positively impacting economic activities, creating favorable conditions for listed companies to grow and increase profits, thereby positively affecting the Vietnamese stock market.
- Efforts to improve the legal framework: 2025 is expected to be a year of breakthroughs, with reforms in the state political apparatus. At the same time, the stock market could achieve new milestones with strong support from macroeconomic policies. With the National Assembly setting a goal to increase the stock market size to at least 85% of GDP and the bond market to at least 47% of GDP by 2025, the government and the Ministry of Finance have been focusing on completing the legal framework to enhance transparency, safety, and the attractiveness of the investment environment to achieve this goal. In September 2024, the Ministry of Finance issued Circular 68/2024/TT-BTC, amending and supplementing four circulars, including a provision that foreign institutional investors no longer need to have full funds when placing stock purchase orders, gradually meeting the criteria of the FTSE Russell rating organization for Vietnam's stock market to be upgraded in 2025. Additionally, the amended Securities Law is expected to not only improve the domestic investment environment but also send positive signals to attract foreign capital.
- Boom in public investment: To achieve an 8% GDP growth in 2025, public investment is considered one of the key pillars to meet this goal. This increase not only drives GDP growth but also opens up large development opportunities for sectors such as construction, building materials, logistics, and real estate. This is expected to create a growth wave that will spread across many industries, supporting the development of the stock market.
- Stable recovery of the manufacturing sector: Vietnam's manufacturing sector is expected to continue stable growth in 2025, thanks to the advantage of the global supply chain diversification strategy "China +1." This trend has made Vietnam an attractive destination for FDI capital. Additionally, the increase in export orders will play an important role in improving the performance of manufacturing companies and boosting market value.
- Positive impact on the banking financial system: In line with the government's economic growth target, the State Bank of Vietnam has set a credit growth target of 16%. In 2025, the banking sector is expected to resolve existing bad debts, improve lending mechanisms, promote green credit, social housing credit, and enhance operational efficiency.
- Increasing focus on digital transformation: Digital transformation and technology application in Vietnam are being prioritized by the government. Streamlining the administrative apparatus, eliminating cumbersome procedures, applying AI, and modern technologies are expected to improve the efficiency of the state apparatus, facilitate production, business activities, and investment projects. The acceleration of digital transformation will also create conditions for attracting FDI capital more strongly by creating a transparent, synchronized, and efficient investment environment.
